The Te Deum and Jubilate in E flat with the greater third by Child as published by Arnold is a very complex piece in its voice distribution. In his table of contents, Arnold shows verse voices for treble, contra tenor, tenor and bass for both sides (decani and cantoris) for a total of 8 voices. Then for the full sections he writes it in 4 staves (treble, contra tenor, tenor and bass) but has divisi often in the treble and sometimes also in other voices. In some cases I have separated the divisi into two staves, hoping to clarify for the singers.
