Translation

Have mercy upon me, O God, after thy great goodness : according to the multitude of thy mercies do away mine offences.
Wash me thoroughly from my wickedness : and cleanse me from my sin.
For I acknowledge my faults : and my sin is ever before me.
Against thee only have I sinned, and done this evil in thy sight : that thou mightest be justified in thy saying, and clear when thou art judged.
Behold, I was shapen in wickedness : and in sin hath my mother conceived me.
But lo, thou requirest truth in the inward parts: and shalt make me to understand wisdom secretly.
Thou shalt purge me with hyssop, and I shall be clean : thou shalt wash me, and I shall be whiter than snow.
Thou shalt make me hear of joy and gladness : that the bones which thou hast broken may rejoice.
Turn thy face from my sins : and put out all my misdeeds.
Make me a clean heart, O God : and renew a right spirit within me.
Cast me not away from thy presence : and take not thy holy Spirit from me.
O give me the comfort of thy help again : and stablish me with thy free Spirit.
Then shall I teach thy ways unto the wicked : and sinners shall be converted unto thee.
Deliver me from blood-guiltiness, O God, thou that art the God of my health : and my tongue shall sing of thy righteousness.
Thou shalt open my lips, O Lord : and my mouth shall shew thy praise.
For thou desirest no sacrifice, else would I give it thee : but thou delightest not in burnt-offerings.
The sacrifice of God is a troubled spirit : a broken and contrite heart, O God, shalt thou not despise.
O be favourable and gracious unto Sion : build thou the walls of Jerusalem.
Then shalt thou be pleased with the sacrifice of righteousness, with the burnt-offerings and oblations : then shall they offer young bullocks upon thine altar.
(Book of Common Prayer, 1549: psalm 51.)

Function

Possibly a votive antiphon substitute composed for para-liturgical use during the reign of Mary Tudor, or a motet for domestic recreation dating from Mary's reign or Elizabeth I's.

Text

The text used by Mundy is not the vulgate. It has not been conclusively traced, but is closely related to the version found in a retranslation of the bible by Sante Pagnino, as revised by François Vatable. In a few places, however, Mundy adheres to the Vulgate rather than Vatable. Frank Harrison suggested that Mundy may have been working from a book in which Vatable's text and the Vulgate were printed in parallel and noted the existence of such an edition published in 1557 by Robert Estienne (also known as Robert Stephanus). In fact Estienne published more than one version of this psalm. In his 1557 edition of the Pagnino/Vatable bible the final verse begins 'Tunc voles sacrificia iustitiae holocaustum et oblationem', but the version in his Liber Psalmorum Davidis of 1556 agrees with Mundy (and almost with the vulgate), reading 'Tunc accepta habebis sacrificia iustitiae holocaustum et oblationem'. Three verses earlier the two books also differ, neither version agreeing with the vulgate.

Editorial Conventions

The nomenclature of the voice-parts follows the Tudor convention.
The original clef, staff signature, mensuration symbol and first note of each part are shown on the prefatory staves. Where the mensuration changes the new symbol is shown above the staff. The illogical appearance of the prefatory staves is a consequence of the fragmentary preservation of this composition and the transposition of counterverses in source C below.
Editorial accidentals are placed above the notes concerned and remain operative throughout the bar.
Ligatures are denoted by the sign $\overline{\quad}$, coloration by the sign $\square \sqcap$.
Spelling of the text has been modernised.
Text repetition signs in the underlay have been expanded editorially in italics. Underlay between square brackets is entirely editorial.
Missing passages are reconstructed in small notation.

Notes on the Readings of the Sources

Only three voice parts of this motet survive complete. Most of the counterverses can be recovered from other sources, but the full sections and the gimel section at bars 211–224 need substantial reconstruction.

In the notes below, the references are listed by source. Each reference to a bar or group of bars is separated by an oblique stroke. Within these references multiple readings in the same voice are separated by commas and readings in different voices by semicolons. The order within each entry is: 1) bar number; 2) voice; 3) reading of the source. For extended references subsequent bar numbers are in brackets. Pitches are in capital letters, preceded by a number where necessary, e.g. ²A = second note A in the bar.
