Translation

When the sabbath was past, Mary Magdalene, and Mary the mother of James, and Salome, had brought sweet spices, that they might come and anoint Jesus. Alleluia.

℣ And very early in the morning the first day of the week, they came unto the sepulchre at the rising of the sun, that they might come and anoint Jesus. Alleluia.

℣ Glory be to the Father and to the Son, and to the Holy Ghost.
Alleluia.

Liturgical Function

Third Respond at Matins on Easter Day, throughout the Octave of Easter and on Sundays from Easter to the Ascension.

Editorial Conventions

The original clef, staff signature, mensuration symbol and first note of each part are shown on the prefatory staves at the start of the piece.

Editorial accidentals are placed above the notes concerned and remain operative throughout the bar unless cancelled.

Ligatures are denoted by the sign .

Repeat signs in the underlay have been expanded in italics.

Notes on the Readings of the Sources

This edition is necessarily based on A. Its scribe, Robert Dow, was not above modifying the pieces he copied in order to bring the underlay more into line with Elizabethan taste. In the absence of any texted concordance it is impossible to be sure how much he altered he altered in this piece, but it seems certain that Johnson consistently placed the melismas of aromata on the final syllable. B has two rhythmical variants applied systematically. One places the accent in Jacobi on the first syllable. The other, in the Alleluia section, does not fit the word at all well, which, since this source is textless, may mean that it was introduced for the benefit of instrumental performers. There are no signa to mark the repeats in B.

It is hard to account for the appearance of Tallis's name in the Tenor partbook of A. Tallis did set this text, but he placed the cantus firmus in the Treble, not in the Tenor. The ascription in B is not credible. Although the willingness to avoid suspended leading notes at cadences (e.g. bars 36–9) is consistent with Taverner's style, he largely avoided the echappée figure prominent in the Alleluia and elsewhere.

In the list of readings below, each reference to a bar or group of bars is separated by an oblique stroke, references to different voices in the same bar by a semicolon and multiple references to the same voice by a comma. The order within each entry is: 1) bar number(s); 2) voice; 3) source; 4) reading of the source. For extended readings, subsequent bar numbers are in brackets. Pitches are in capital letters, preceded by a number where necessary, e.g. ³D = 3rd note D in the bar (or group of bars). Note values are abbreviated in italics, e.g. dot-m = dotted minim. The sign + denotes a tie and × an underlay repetition sign.
