

Irish Town

Words by Jon Corelis

Music by Jon Corelis

Note: the accompaniment is for example and may be played on piano or orchestral or Celtic harp, or another accompaniment may be used.
The song may also be sung a capella.

♩ = 120

Voice

Harp

I will go

11

down to I-rish Town, where the old grey tow'r still holds a bar-ren watch for the shroud-ed

21

ships in the sea wind's show'-ry folds. The flor-id men of the mar-bled heights throw pen-nies

31

at your pain: in I-rish town they'll give you wine as sweet as sum-mer rain. The 42

haugh-ty dames of Par-son's Hill have learned their love at school; they feed their gal-lants

52

per-fumed cakes and break hearts by the rule, but the wo-men down in I-rish town were born with hearts that know too des-p'rate - ly what want-ing means to think that love's a show. So I will go down to I - rish town where the riv - er meets the sea, and look for a lit - tle last - ing love in the grim grey tow - er's lee.

62

72

83